RETURN ENGAGEMENT

Miss Alice Nielsen, the famous Soprano, will sing in this city Monday Night—May Be Compelled to Stay Here Several Days.

Miss Alice Nielsen, the famous soprano, will appear in Maysville Monday night in a return engagement on account of her being unable to sing at her previous trip to this city. She will be accompanied by Messrs. Kirk-Smith and Reddick, artists on the violin cello and piano.

Miss Nielsen is one of the greatest stars on the Chautauqua platform and Maysville is indeed fortunate to be able to hear her. She has the happy faculty of being able to get in touch with her audiences and never fails to respond willingly. In other places where she has appeared, she has delighted large audiences with her splendid singing. When unable to sing here before she appeared before the audience, much against the wishes of her physicians, and told the assembly how sorry she was to be unable to sing. For a number of seasons Miss Nielsen sang Madame Butterfly in some of the leading cities but she has said that she likes the Chautauqua platform better.

Singing out of doors has not injured the voice of Miss Nielsen was the verdict of the thousands who heard the noted soprano at the Norwood Chautauqua Thursday night. The occasion marked her 25th concert of the season, and immediately on completing her summer work she will begin grand opera engagements. Miss Nielsen will Monday give up the special car in which she had been traveling and will come to Maysville, Ky., for the final concert of her circuit, returning immediately afterward to New York.

Miss Nielsen may be marooned in this city for several days if the threatened railroad strike goes on. She will come to Maysville from Ashland, Ky., on Sunday. The tent crew will also be delayed in moving their material.

Those persons that have reserved seats for the entertainment can get new reservations at the J. J. Wood Drug Store. Season tickets will not

MAN IDENTIFIED

That Was Drowned Off the Steamer
Greenland Thursday Night—Will Try to Locate Relatives.

The man who was drowned off the steamer Greenland just above the city Thursday night proved to be J. Erwin of Cincinnati.

The man was with a party that had been shipped from Cincinnati to work on the dam just above the city. He was drunk and fell overboard. The men that he was with knew him only by the name of Humpty. Yesterday the contractors received a letter from the employment agency in Cincinnati giving the name of the ones that had been shipped. The name of J. Erwin was not answered when called so it was decided that the drowned man must have been the possessor of that cognomen.

Coroner Charles Black yesterday notified Chief of Police Copeland of Cincinnati of the drowning and asked him to try to locate the relatives of the man. The body has been embalmed and is now being held at the undertaking parlors, of Coughlin & Co.

TRUTH FROM A DEMOCRAT

Senator John H. Bankhead, Democrat, of Alabama, has come around to the support of the administration's ship purchase bill, but in announcing his change of heart, he did the Wilson administration no good. Explaining his opposition to the bill at the last session of Congress, Senator Bankhead said:

"I believed then, and believe now, that if that bill had become a law and these (interned) vessels had been purchased by the United States and put under our flag, and engaged in commerce between this and foreign countries, war would have been the inevitable result, or such strained relations between this government and the allies, as would have absolutely demoralized and destroyed our foreign commerce."

Senator Bankhead was absolutely right. Who, then, was it that "kept us out of war?" Woodrow Wilson was bending every energy in his power to force through Congress the shipping bill which would certainly have thrown us into war. The passage of that bill was defeated by the Republican members, aided by Senator Bankhead and six other Democrats. It was the level-headed Republican minority and such independent Democrats as Bankhead who prevented that folly, or worse than folly.

But Senator Bankhead knows that there are no idle ships in any country in the world for sale except those same interned ships. It we do not buy those ships and set them sailing, we cannot add a single ton to the carrying capacity of the ships now carrying merchandise between this and other countries. Ship yards have all the orders they can fill for many months to come, and more orders from private concerns await them. Passage of a ship-purchase bill, with purchase of interned ships prohibited, may not involve us in war, but it certainly cannot help our foreign commerce. It should be borne in mind, however, that this administration is not much of a respecter of law and very likely it would find some way to purchase the interned ships in spite of any prohibition Congress may make.

All those stories the White House publicity bureau has been putting out recently about the President getting up at 5 o'clock in the morning to begin his official duties, and giving up his regular week end cruise on the government yacht Mayflower in order to concentrate his attention upon the threatened railway strike, must have caused quite a broad smile among the newspaper men at the national capital. Also, they serve to remind the general public of the stories that were given out at the White House a little over a year ago about the President being in deep mourning and stooping beneath the load of responsibility incident to the European situation, when, as a matter of fact, he was taking life and his pleasures as gaily as anyone, as developments soon disclosed. The White House publicity bureau has a few things to learn before it can successfully fool very many people much of the time.

It is altogether fitting that the defense of the Wilson administration in the lower house of Congress should be undertaken by a Representative from Mississippi—a State which is Democratic mainly because of statutes which do not permit the colored Republicans to vote or to have their votes counted. Moreover, it is the South which has furnished the votes in Congress to pass the measures which Wilson has advocated and it is the South which has provided the chairmen for the committee who have framed these measures and who have drafted the "gag rules" under which the bills have been passed. Hence it is obvious thing for the South—which, in addition, has been the chief beneficiary of the Wilson regime—to come to Wilson's defense.

The nomination of Myron T. Herrick as Republican candidate for Senator from Ohio will be followed by his election, of course, and this assures to the Republican Senate which is to come in next March a member who will be able to contribute a great deal to the task of reforming the rural credits law which the Democrats have just placed on the statute books but which they themselves do not expect to have in operation until some time next spring. By that time a Republican administration will be in charge and the work of perfecting hasty Democratic legislation stumped will resound with praise of this imperfect and impracticable legislation.

The placing of the federal land banks will afford another opportunity for the administration to play politics, to reward favorite communities and to penalize the stiff-necked cities which do not bow down to Democracy. The location of the subsidiaries of the federal reserve banking system came near to being a real scandal and the highly artificial relations which were thus set up in financial communication have always hampered the operations of the system. It remains to be seen if the new land banks are to be dealt with similarly.

Cincinnati will open its new speedway on next Monday, September 4. The Maysville speedway through the East End will be opened about two months later. A great number of speed records are expected to be broken after the opening.

Take heart, brother, take heart! If your wife declines to laugh at your jokes you can still go out in the woodshed and roar to your heart's content.

If you failed to connect up with the national convention you at least have the satisfaction of knowing that you are several snakes to the good.

Chairman McCormick declares that President Wilson will "stand on his record." Not at all. He will try to dodge from it.

PARAGRAPHS

Bryan butts, Wilson tuts.

Watchful waiting maketh woeful waiting.

Candidate Hughes doesn't talk like a tut-tutter.

Hughes is hammering and the Democrats are yammering.

The Wilson Administration stands for taxes, and more taxes.

The Hughes trail will be cold by the time the Democrats strike it.

As a party leader, would it be fair to refer to J. Ham Lewis as J. "Pork" Lewis?

Bryan says Mr. Hughes' talks aren't judicial. No. The people can understand 'em perfectly.

Can the folks on the Democratic band wagon continue to play by the President's notes?

Hughes says the country can't be saved by letting it drift. That's where he and W. Wilson differ.

Washington reports that a new apology has been sent to First Chief Carranza. Looks like a habit.

Mr. Bryan is mistaken when he says Hughes is "villainous." The candidate is merely applying the acid test.

A messenger of President Wilson found out that Colorado women were for the administration. No messenger, of course, can be blamed for making good.

Political opponents are beginning to find that why Mr. Hughes kept silence so long wasn't because he had lost his tongue.

Another encouraging feature about our new navy is that when it is completed, Mr. Daniels will not be Secretary of it.

Having discovered that the Democrats don't like what he is saying, Mr. Hughes doubtless is convinced that he is on the right track.

Mr. Wilson says his mind is progressive, but those who try to follow its progress can never tell the direction it is taking. It is just as likely to be progressing backward as forward.

At Princeton Mr. Wilson used to confer honors upon D. Ds. He couldn't break the habit when it came to Deserving Democrats.

The fact that the Democratic campaign managers have booked Secretary Daniels for a speech in Maine seems to indicate that they have abandoned all hope of carrying the State and simply don't care what happens to the ticket in the September election.

Senator J. Ham Lewis, a spokesman for the administration, in attempting to apologize for the President's mollycoddle expression that we are "too proud to fight," explains that it is an old Latin quotation. But the people already know that it is out of date and the expression of a decadent nation.

"We don't want to maintain a political alibi," remarked Mr. Hughes to the North Dakota farmers, and a nation applauds him. Americans are beginning to see a possibility in the near future of regaining their self-respect.

The administration seems to have sold everything it could, from the nation's honor down to the smallest rural postmaster'ship.

Secretary Daniels says this is no time for politics. And it's no time for Secretary Daniels, either.

Senator Lewis, defending the President on his "too proud to fight" expression, intimates that it was due solely to the ignorance of his audience that the popular interpretation that has been put upon it was evolved, and that anyway it didn't mean what it appeared to mean. The latter statement can be taken with some degree of confidence, as it is quite a well-known fact that most of the things the President says do not mean what they are supposed to mean.

Secretary Redfield has presented another of those living illustrations of the old adage that "fools rush in where angels fear to tread," with one important modification. The difference in the Secretary's case is that he walked right in and turned around and was kicked right out again.

The Democratic contingent in the Senate is all worked up over the fact that the terms of the treaty for the purchase of the Danish West Indies "leaked out." "Pitiless publicity," you understand, has been consigned to the scrap heap with a large assortment of various other Democratic policies and promises.

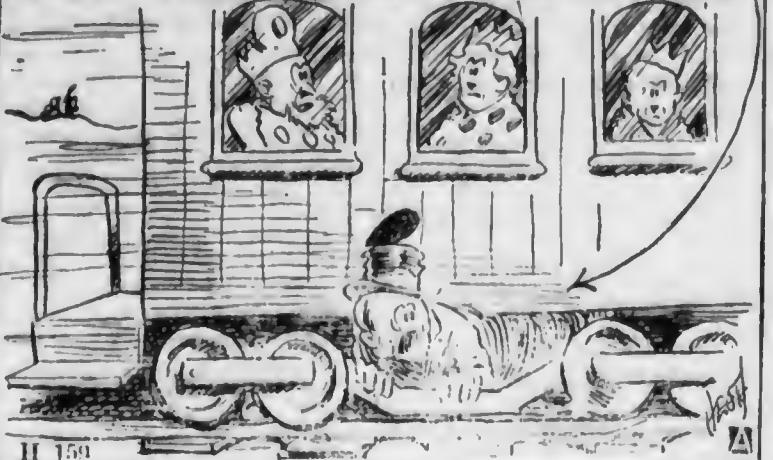

Of Mr. Wilson it may be said he meant well, but he now finds himself buried under the evidence of inefficiency that Mr. Hughes has brought forth.

Mr. Wilson has made no reply to the charges of Mr. Hughes. Is he still too proud to fight?

I SAY OLD TOP, WOULD YOU MIND SHARING THAT LOGS HABITATION TONIGHT WITH A MAN WHO'S SEEN BETTER DAYS? THOUGH YOU MAY DOUBT IT, I CAN TRUTHFULLY STATE THAT I USED TO TRAVEL ALL OVER EUROPE WITH LOTS OF THE ROYAL FAMILIES ON THEIR OWN PRIVATE TRAINS!

BUT THIS IS HOW HE DID IT

NEW YORK LETTER

(From Our Regular Correspondent)

Women Support Hughes—The National Woman's Republican Association is organizing women of all classes and interests to work for Republican principles and for Hughes "because they stand for progress and prosperity." They urge women to support the Republican party "because it stands for preparedness, not only military but industrial; for adequate protection, the means whereby permanent prosperity can be assured; for economy in administration; because both the Republican candidates stand for nationalism." Mrs. Helen Varick Boswell, president of the association, says, "We are urging women to support the Republican party and its presidential candidates also because both stand for nationalism. At a time in our history when, more than ever, sectionalism needs to be guarded against, we must have a leader and a party which speak and act in no uncertain terms for a unified America, a national outlook, a balanced government, and a nationalized policy. We want women to see the importance of a national point of view."

"Women in business realize uncertainty is fatal to the spirit of all enterprise and that it reacts upon every man and woman employed. We feel that if women as a whole realized the value of a protective policy they would give their time and their enthusiasm to the party that stands for it. We are out to educate women to see the value of it."

"We urge the support of all Republican women who wish to help to achieve for this country a national administration which will insure prosperous, healthy American homes, real prosperity and preparedness, and a contented citizenship."

Kitchin Condemns Wilson Only a short time ago, Rep. Kitchin, the Democratic leader of the House, paid his respects to the President, and incidentally to Josephus Daniels who, as everyone knows, is merely one of the mouthpieces of Woodrow Wilson. Said Mr. Kitchin, "I believe I said it was criminal for this House to vote upon a proposition that would take hundreds of millions of dollars needlessly out of the Treasury through the proposition presented by the gentleman from Pennsylvania. And yet in two short months the chairman of the committee on Naval Affairs, the Secretary of the Navy and the President and most of my fellow Democrats want me to get up now on this floor and eat my words, and say that the program of the gentleman from Pennsylvania and the Republicans, which they induced me then to denounce as criminal recklessness, is now the very perfection of virtue and patriotism." This was, it will be understood, the naval program which the Republicans urged in the House and which Mr. Kitchin, as he says, was induced by the President and Daniels to denounce as "criminal," which the Senator later, under the lash of the President adopted and the House agreed to, and which Mr. Daniels promptly proclaimed to the country as a great achievement of the administration.

After The War—Senator Penrose and President Wilson have both issued warnings regarding the situation which will arise in this country. Mr. Penrose foresees an era of the keenest competition, the European manufacturing centers flooded with returned soldiers, the price of labor lower than normally and the European governments working desperately to gain for-sign trade in order to win back the gold they have had to send abroad, especially to this country. President Wilson regards the coming of peace as "America's opportunity," but he declares that "the problem of disunion" will be "more difficult to fight than that of the Civil War." Mr. Wilson does not say that this country is to be congratulated that it has in itself one greater than Lincoln to grasp and solve this tremendous problem. Far from it. He only makes it clear that such is his personal conviction and if you do not see it, alas for your intelligence. All is not without hope, however, even the intelligence of the man in the street, for Mr. Wilson declares, "In the third place, I think it is evident that the United States will understand herself better than ever before. The war and all its attendant circumstances have eroded her wide awake to both the dangers of her life and its enormous possibilities and advantages." Perhaps only one who knows Woodrow Wilson by personal contact would realize how firmly he is convinced that his re-election is, in his estimation, chief among these enormous possibilities and advantages.

Another "Daniels"—According to Col. George Harvey, the truly original Wilson man and the one who more than any other won for Wilson the Presidency, "a Daniels has to come to be navy slang for the shorter, and if conceivable, uglier word." This time, however, it is the Secretary of War who appears to have become infected with the besetting sin of the Wilson administration. Secretary Baker has been telling Maine audiences that the Mexican situation was inherited from the Taft administration and that it was President Taft who "refused to recognize the absolute monster, Huerta." The truth is, as Mr. Baker must know, that Huerta did not assume office until February 19, 1913, twelve days before Mr. Taft retired from the Presidency, and Mr. Taft did not recognize Huerta because he felt that it was the delicate and appropriate course to leave that act to his successor. Had Mr. Wilson recognized Huerta it would have strengthened his hands in dealing with him to have himself recognized the Mexican President instead of having to deal with an executive recognized by his predecessor. No argument can be made to support the contention that President Taft was in any way responsible for the Mexican problem of this administration which argument is not based on a series of "Danielses."

Is It Closed?—The Washington administration calmly announces that the "Peruvian incident" is closed. But is it? In view of the fact that it was Secretary McAdoo who made the break known as the Peruvian incident, there is naturally much anxiety to have it regarded as closed. But New Yorkers who have close business relations with Peru, and some of the diplomats who are here, by his ebum, Samuel Untermyer, and a few others, made a South American junket on an American battleship. The Peruvian government had been officially notified that its capital would be visited and, although Peru was so poor that she had been compelled to abolish the post of Minister to the United States, she spent a large sum in preparing an entertainment for McAdoo and his party and then, when the party arrived they refused to come ashore on the ground that there was plague in Lima. Such wounds to the pride of a South American people do not become a closed incident within one generation.

PUBLIC SALE OF MASON COUNTY FAIR

As Executor of Phoebe Marshall, deceased, I will, on

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1916,

at 2 p. m., on the premises sell at public auction, the farm owned by her on which she resided at her death, containing about 176 acres, lying just north of the town of Washington, and within 200 yards of Maysville and Lexington Turnpike road, which runs through said town, and within half a mile of the new Washington High School building. Said farm is located in the best part of Mason County, and is in a fine state of cultivation. It is well watered, has out it one and one-half story brick dwelling house, containing six rooms and kitchen, one tenant house, stable, carriage house, silo, and two large tobacco barns, one of which is also a stock barn. It adjoins lands of George Longnecker, Larkia Brothers, A. L. Glascock, Clarence Tucker, Mrs. Mattie McCann and Mrs. Pearl Marshall. Full possession of the farm will be given to the purchaser on March 1, 1917, but possession of the dwelling house, with privilege of seedling during the coming fall, will be given at once on completion of the sale.

The farm will be sold on a credit of six and twelve months, the purchaser to execute notes with good personal security, bearing six per cent. interest from the day of sale, each for one-half the purchase money, with privilege, however, of paying the whole purchase price in cash at any time before same falls due, with interest up to the date of payment.

This sale is made pursuant to the directions contained in the will of Phoebe Marshall, deceased.

E. L. WORTHINGTON, Executor of Phoebe Marshall, Deceased.

"FIGHTING FIRST" OFF FOR MEXICAN BORDER—DIRECT ROUTE MAY LET LOUISVILLE REACH NEW CAMP FIRST

Fort Thomas, Ky., August 31—The last unit of the Kentucky brigade to entertain for the border, the First Regiment of Louisville, hiked to Newport tonight, and climbed into tourist cars that will carry them to Tobin, Texas, for training and border patrol. Nine weeks and one day have elapsed since this unit first pitched its tents at Ft. Thomas in the belief that it would entrain for the border in something less than two weeks time.

The actual entraining followed a hike of five miles, which left the men in a fit condition to climb into their bunks and get some good sound sleep at the beginning of their journey. Little interest was displayed in the information that the train was to touch Louisville, when it was learned that the route would take the men through South Louisville without touching the central portion at all, and without coming in the neighborhood of either the Tenth Street station or the Fourth Avenue crossing.

Pursuant to an order received here at noon, students who were awaiting discharges to return to school or college, were ordered to entertain and told that no more discharges would be issued on this score. Simultaneously it was announced that applications for discharge under the dependent relations clause which were filed later than August 30 would not be considered.

There is considerable probability that the First will reach the border in advance of the two units which preceded it in entraining, due to the route selected at which is understood to take a direct shoot for the border after leaving Memphis, while the routes taken by the other units will be more circuitous.

FACTORYS UNITE TO GREET "T. R." HILL MOORE AND G. O. P.'S JOIN IN WELCOMING FORMER PRESIDENT

Lewiston, Mo., August 31—Progressive united with Republicans in greeting Theodore Roosevelt, who delivered here tonight his first speech of the campaign in behalf of Charles E. Hughes, Republican candidate for the presidency. A large delegation of Republicans and Progressives met him in Portland and escorted him here, where he reviewed an old-fashioned torchlight procession, in which many former Progressive leaders marched.

From the time he landed in Boston today from the New York steamer until he retired to his room tonight, the former President received enthusiastic demonstrations. His address was devoted largely to an attack on the administration and to a criticism of hyphenism. There should in American citizenship be no dual allegiance, he declared.

JUSTICE HUGHES ENDS HIS FOUR DAY WEST

Denver, Col., August 31—Charles E. Hughes today ended his four day rest in the mountains on Estes Park and turned east on a 2,000 mile journey that will carry him in seven days to Portland, Maine. Most of this time will be spent in traveling and there will be comparatively few speeches. In the 21 hour ride from here to Kansas City there will be only one formal address at Topeka, Kan.

Mr. Hughes motored 32 miles from Estes Park through rugged mountain scenery to Loveland, Col., where he addressed a large audience at the Larimer County fair.

That So Many Maysville People Fail To Recognize Kidney Weakness.

It's surprising how few know what to do.

Kidney trouble needs kidney treatment.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only.

Have convinced Maysville people of their merit.

Here's a Maysville case; Maysville testimony.

Kidney sufferers hereabouts should read it.

Mrs. John Burns, Maysville, says:

"I was subject to severe spells of backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble. They came on every three or six months and at times I was confined to bed and almost helpless. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me quick benefit. When I have had slight return attacks of backache, Doan's Kidney Pills have never failed to quickly check the trouble."

OVER SEVEN YEARS LATER, Mrs. Burns said: "The statement I gave before praising Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good."

HUGHES' LABOR RECORD

When Mr. Hughes, remembering only that he is a Democrat and forgetting that he is a leader of organized labor, ventured to assert that Mr. Hughes is unfriendly to labor because he concurred in the unanimous decision in the Danbury haters' case, he ventured on very thin ice. The Chicago Tribune promptly reminds him that an honest judge must apply the law as he thinks it is, not as he thinks it ought to be; and asks him to tell those who look to him for political advice something about the record of Mr. Hughes as Governor. Read what the Legislative New York, the official organ of the New York Federation of Labor, said editorially when Mr. Hughes left the Governor's chair at Albany for his place on the supreme court. Here it is:

"Now that Gov. Hughes has retired from politics and ascended to a place on the highest judicial tribunal in the world, the fact can be acknowledged without hurting anybody's political corns that he was the greatest friend of labor laws that ever occupied the Governor's chair at Albany. During his two terms he has signed fifty-six labor laws, including among them the best labor laws ever enacted in this or any state."

"He also urged the enactment of labor laws in his messages to the Legislature, even going so far as to place the demand for a labor law in one of his messages to an extra session of the Legislature."

"Only 162 labor laws have been enacted in this state since its erection in 1777—in 133 years. One-third of these, exceeding in quality all of the others, have been enacted and signed during Gov. Hughes' term of three years and nine months."

Let organized labor take to heart what the Chicago Tribune says on this point: "Mr. Hughes is no demagogue and no visionary. He is a man of courage and conscience, and if labor cannot confide its cause to his rock-bottom Americanism there is something wrong with its cause."—Boston Herald.

Recent official statistics place the available water power of Spain at about 5,000,000 horsepower, of which only about 300,000 is being utilized.

8-HOUR DAY MEASURE

Rushed Through House and is Now in Senate—Debate Halts. Final Vote in Upper House—Halt—Injunction Is Promised By 6 O'clock Tonight.

Washington, September 1—Prevention of the threatened railroad strike through an act of Congress seems assured tonight, after the House by an overwhelming vote had passed the Adamson eight-hour day law and the Senate had agreed to take a final vote on the measure not later than 6 o'clock tomorrow evening. Although it is possible that Senate amendments may make conferences necessary, it generally is believed on both sides of the Capitol that when the test comes, the House bill, as it stands, will be accepted and rushed to Shadow Lawn, N. J., for President Wilson's signature, and while no formal announcements were forthcoming from the employees' brotherhoods' heads tonight, it is authoritatively stated that this will result in immediate dispatch of code messages calling off the general strike order for Monday morning.

The Adamson bill as passed by the House by a vote of 239 to 56, with minor amendments, is the same measure which the brotherhood leaders officially declared yesterday would constitute a satisfactory settlement and prevent the strike. The amendment, added to conform to a draft framed by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, would fix the effective date January 1, instead of December 1, 1916, and except railroads less than 100 miles long and electric street and interurban lines.

Briefly it provides: The eight hours shall be deemed a day's work and the standard for reckoning compensation of railroad employees operating trains in interstate commerce after January 1, 1917, and. That a commission of three appointed by President Wilson shall investigate the effect of the eight-hour standard from six to nine months and then report to Congress, present wages not to be reduced during the investigation nor for thirty days thereafter and overtime to be paid at a pro rata rate.

It was after a day of hot debate that the House passed the bill, under a special rule brought in when Republican leader Mann objected to its consideration. Less than half of the Republicans followed their floor leader in the opposition and when the final vote came seventy of them lined up with the majority, while only fifty-six voted against the measure. Just two Democrats, Representative Steele, of Pennsylvania, and Black of Texas, stood out against the bill, and Representative London of New York, the only Socialist, voted for it.

Senate Measure Similar
Red tap was eliminated, as far as possible to rush the measure over to the Senate which after several hours of lively discussion over a bill reported by its Interstate Commerce Committee, has recessed until 8 o'clock. When the Senate reconvened the House legislation was there awaiting action. The Senate committee bill drafted during a late session last night and another this morning was the Adamson measure with the same amendments adopted today by the House and added section empowering the Interstate Commerce Commission to fix the wages of interstate railroad employees at the end of the proposed period of investigation and thereafter. At the outset of the night session Senator Newlands sought and obtained unanimous consent to put aside the Senate bill and take up the one sent over from the House, thereby paving the way for quick final action without parliamentary formalities that otherwise would be necessary. Then Senator Underwood, brought up the issue over which the Senate is divided by proposing an amendment, the wage fixing provisions of the discarded Senate bill.

Wilson at Capital
Over this amendment debate waged for three hours. Senators Newlands and Underwood advocating it and Senator Cummins making a long speech criticizing the whole proceeding. Most of the Senators had little to say and in the cloakroom there were strong intimations that the reasons for this was the general conviction that in the end the House bill would go through without a change.

All throughout the morning President Wilson was at his office in the Capitol conferring with administration leaders and aiding in arrangements for putting the legislation through. He left Washington at 3 o'clock in the afternoon for Long Branch, N. J., confident that his efforts had averted the industrial catastrophe.

While the House was at work the three brotherhood heads at the invitation of Democratic Leader Kitchin occupied the Ways and Means Committee rooms and were in consultation with the labor spokes men in the House. They were insistent that the eight-hour day provision go through without any of the arbitration or wage fixing amendments put forward during the debate. When the vote was taken they obviously were pleased.

SURRENDER

By Roads Forced, Say Rail Heads—Large Number of Employees Opposed to Strike and Promise Traffic Officials to Remain—Injunction Is Asked By L. & N. Conductors.

Chicago, September 1—Convinced that Congress will force them to surrender presidents of important western railroad tonight ordered rescheduling or modifications of the freight embargo established in preparation for a general railway strike. At the same time the railroad executives announced defections from the ranks of the railway brotherhood and declared they had enough men to operate trains, strike or no strike. This was denied by brotherhood officials.

Hale Holden, president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, spokesman for the railroads in the conferences with President Wilson, says the railroads are convinced Congress will force through the eight-hour day law before the date set for the strike but that they are taking no chances.

"It seems tonight that Congress will make us surrender," Mr. Holden said, explaining an order by his freight department, revoking the embargo. "The Burlington and other roads have left today that there is little chance for a strike now. We are revoking our embargo so as not to inconvenience the shippers at all. But we are going ahead with our plans to operate trains in the event of a strike. The strike order must be actually revoked before we let up in our precautions. We have men enough to run our trains."

Modifications of the freight embargo were announced here by the Erie and the Rock Island system. Other roads were expected to take similar action within a few hours.

Pool of Employees Taken
While the railroad executives were claiming the defection of thousands of the brotherhood members, officials of the union, through Timothy Shea, vice president of the brotherhood of firemen and engineers, said the railroads habitually circulated such stories and they have no fear their men would not obey the strike law.

Pools of employees who are members of the union were practically completed and in general the roads said that they would be able to count on the loyalty of about 25 per cent of their trainmen, even if the strike order is not revoked.

The most startling of the announcements came from the general offices of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe in a statement that the four brotherhoods—engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen—would hold meetings tonight to request the heads of their unions at Washington to revoke the strike order.

Many To Stay at Posts
In addition, suits of injunction against calling strikes were filed by individual brotherhood members in various parts of the country, including a number of Santa Fe trainmen employed in Texas.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE
Last night about eleven o'clock Mrs. George Dale fell from the bridge over Limestone Creek to the shores of the brook below. She was badly bruised in the fall. She claims that she met her husband on the bridge and he threw her overboard but Dale claims that she was trying to commit suicide and jumped over. Dale sued for divorce some time ago from her.

MANCHESTER FAIR TODAY
The Manchester Fair is being held today in that place. The fair will only last one day. A number from here went up this morning. A small amount of stock is being entered in the ring.
